

A schematic diagram of a circuit, labeled 10, showing two components connected in series. The first component, labeled 12, has terminals 12A and 12B. The second component, labeled 14, has terminals 14A and 14B. The circuit is represented by a single horizontal line with a vertical line at the right end, indicating a closed loop.